ADIEUX À MARIE STUART.

Queen, for whose house my fathers fought,
   With hopes that rose and fell,
Red star of boyhood's fiery thought,
   Farewell.

They gave their lives, and I, my queen,
   Have given you of my life,
Seeing your brave star burn high between
   Men's strife.

The strife that lightened round their spears
   Long since fell still: so long
Hardly may hope to last in years
   My song.

But still through strife of time and thought
   Your light on me too fell:
Queen, in whose name we sang or fought,
   Farewell.
II

There beats no heart on either border
Wherethrough the north blasts blow
But keeps your memory as a warder
His beacon-fire aglow.

Long since it fired with love and wonder
Mine, for whose April age
Blithe midsummer made banquet under
The shade of Hermitage.

Soft sang the burn's blithe notes, that gather
Strength to ring true:
And air and trees and sun and heather
Remembered you.

Old border ghosts of fight or fairy
Or love or teen,
These they forgot, remembering Mary
The Queen.

III

Queen once of Scots and ever of ours
Whose sires brought forth for you
Their lives to strew your way like flowers,
Adieu.
ADIEUX A MARIE STUART

Dead is full many a dead man's name
   Who died for you this long
Time past: shall this too fare the same,
   My song?

But surely, though it die or live,
   Your face was worth
All that a man may think to give
   On earth.

No darkness cast of years between
   Can darken you:
Man's love will never bid my queen
   Adieu.

IV

Love hangs like light about your name
   As music round the shell:
No heart can take of you a tame
   Farewell.

Yet, when your very face was seen,
   Ill gifts were yours for giving:
Love gat strange guerdons of my queen
   When living.
ADIEUX A MARIE STUART

O diamond heart unflawed and clear,
    The whole world's crowning jewel!
Was ever heart so deadly dear
    So cruel?

Yet none for you of all that bled
    Grudged once one drop that fell:
Not one to life reluctant said
    Farewell.

v

Strange love they have given you, love disloyal,
    Who mock with praise your name,
To leave a head so rare and royal
    Too low for praise or blame.

You could not love nor hate, they tell us,
    You had nor sense nor sting:
In God's name, then, what plague befell us
    To fight for such a thing?

'Some faults the gods will give,' to fetter
    Man's highest intent:
But surely you were something better
    Than innocent!
ADIEUX À MARIE STUART

No maid that strays with steps unwary
Through snares unseen,
But one to live and die for; Mary,
The Queen.

VI

Forgive them all their praise, who blot
Your fame with praise of you:
Then love may say, and falter not,
Adieu.

Yet some you hardly would forgive
Who did you much less wrong
Once: but resentment should not live
Too long.

They never saw your lip's bright bow,
Your swordbright eyes,
The bluest of heavenly things below
The skies.

Clear eyes that love's self finds most like
A swordblade's blue,
A swordblade's ever keen to strike,
Adieu.
Though all things breathe or sound of fight
    That yet make up your spell,
To bid you were to bid the light
    Farewell.

Farewell the song says only, being
    A star whose race is run:
Farewell the soul says never, seeing
    The sun.

Yet, wellnigh as with flash of tears,
    The song must say but so
That took your praise up twenty years
    Ago.

More bright than stars or moons that vary,
    Sun kindling heaven and hell,
Here, after all these years, Queen Mary,
    Farewell.
